To Whom It May Concern:

As a realtor I recommend more than one Home Inspection Company to all of my clients. I want them to feel comfortable and have a say in who inspects their potential home because each client is looking for something different. I have tried other home inspection services but Inspectra Home® stands out from the rest. They can adapt to just about any type of customer for their home inspection needs, whether it's a buyer, seller, or realtor. They take time with those who require it and they keep the inspection flowing with those who want it that way.

Most companies have the same full inspection and report as the next, however, Inspectra Home® offers a variety of inspection packages. Their standard "Instant Inspection Report™" is great for the general homebuyer, although, I have had clients in the general contracting business and for them the "Preliminary Report™" is great. Unlike the standard full home inspection, the "Preliminary Report™" only represents the main mechanical components and the roof system.

My clients like these reports, and they say that the reports are easy to understand. It is very important to me that not only do my client's get a thorough home inspection but that they understand the reporting on the home as well. It helps me in talking with my clients and in negotiating with the seller.

I would have Inspectra Home® inspect a home I am buying for my family and I will continue to recommend them to all of my clients as well.

Sincerely,
